TRIBUTE TO DR. JAMES L. REID

The past couple of months have really brought to my mind the old saying "Give me the flowers while I'm living." Too often, each of us takes for granted an individual in our life who brings us much joy and helps in many way (both great and small) to make life more pleasant and easier. Dr. James L. Reid is one such person in the life of my family and this organization. His excellent submissions to Upper South Carolina Genealogy & History are just the tip of the iceberg and reflect only a portion of the many contributions of time and energy he makes (usually anonymously) to the Society. Jim is a fount of knowledge not only of the genealogical and historical sources of this area but the lore and fast dying oral traditions as well. Having been trained as a scientist (Jim has a doctorate in physics from Clemson University where he currently teaches), he approaches both his genealogical and historical research with a sharp, systematic, methodical eye. He thinks through problems and comes up with solutions based on the evidence not what he wants the results to be. If Jim makes a conjecture about a research problem, it is based on a careful, critical weighing of the evidence available to him at the time and, if he is writing, he includes the disclaimer that the supposition is only inferred by the facts, not proven by them (something which, unfortunately, not all researchers will do). Afterwards, in the tradition of the scientific method, he continues to search for additional facts and refines his conclusions accordingly.

Through our many years of friendship, I have come to know and respect Jim as both a researcher and an individual. Although he is too modest to say so, he is a scholar of the highest order and an avid researcher who knows more about historical and genealogical sources in South Carolina than most professional archivists I know. Jim is also a gentleman in the finest of Southern traditions. Jim has something too often lacking in this world, namely values, and he lives by them. He is a great boon to Piedmont Historical Society. This quarterly is dedicated to Jim in appreciation for what he does and who he is.

AN INCIDENT IN THE LIFE OF REV. DRURY DOBBINS

Source: The Shelby Aurora (Cleveland County, NC), copied by the Carolina Spartan, March 23, 1892

Rev. Drury Dobbins.

The Aurora published four years ago an Enoch Arden affair in which a noted Baptist pioneer preacher, Drury Dobbins, married innocently another man's wife. This minister and the supposed widow were aiming to do what was right and legal, and no one in North Carolina knew or thought the first husband was living, but the unexpected often happens and the runaway husband No. 1 returned to claim his wife whom he had left.

The minister and second husband acted prudently and nobly and proposed that the woman should decide irrevocably the question and each would abide by her decision. So each that day together asserted their love and claims in the presence of all three. Then came the ominous response from the mutual wife, who wisely selected the nobler and kinder husband, Rev. Drury Dobbins. Then the first husband kissed her and was gone forever. The woman chose her future partner, and the first husband, like Enoch Arden, submitted to his fate and returned to Georgia. This is no fiction, but the unadorned truth, as our old men of Cleveland and Rutherford counties can attest.

Rev. Drury Dobbins was one of Nature's Noblemen, a diamond in the rough, who left a noble impress upon this Piedmont section. He was like the celebrated Dr. Carey, a shoemaker, who studied books while he mended shoes, and was a faithful sentinel on the watchtower of Zion for half a century. In his early life he married Mrs. Hannah Sams, nee Callahan, of Rutherford county.

Some of his Baptist friends ought to assist in erecting a suitable monument to the memory of this talented and popular preacher. This ought to be done, although North Carolina is not fond of erecting monuments to her heroic dead.—Shelby Aurora

[Contributor's Note: Other sketches of Rev. Dobbins state that his wife was Mrs. Hannah Callahan, nee Sams—just opposite the statement above. The marriage of Rev. Dobbins and Hannah is not on record in Rutherford County, NC. To conclude that the statement in the Aurora article above is in error the reader should consult Hannah Dobbins' will, which is printed immediately below.]

DEATH OF AN AGED LADY.—Mrs. Elizabeth Gladden, the aged mother of Col. A. H. Gladden, died at her residence in this district, on Tuesday night last, at the advanced age of about one hundred and six years. Mrs. Gladden married about the time of the outbreak of the war of the Revolution, and was quite familiar with many of the scenes, which occurred in our State, during that dark period which "tried men's souls." She retained her faculties in a great degree, until within the last few years, when her eyesight and memory partially failed. She was, far as our knowledge extends, the oldest resident in our District.—Winstons Register, 24th ins

THE PATHOS OF DATES (AN EARLY BLOSS FAMILY)

Source: The Carolina Spartan, September 14, 1892

Note: The narrator is not known.

The Pathos of Dates

I once read a story in which the main incidents were traced out by a person on the opposite side of the street, by means the shadows on the window curtains. In a similar manner I evolved a pathetic story of real life from a series of dates in an old family Bible, which lately fell before my notice. The first date:

"January 1, 1730. On this happy New Year's Day, I Adrian Bloss, took to wife my beloved Kathrina, daughter of John Wagner."

The bold handwriting, the impulsive style, the many flourishes of the the pen, seem to bring vividly before me the smiling bridegroom, happy in his new joy.

Turning the page, the entry was in deep contrast, and in a delicate feminine handwriting.

"August 15, 1730. Died by falling from a ladder, Adrian Bloss, aged 25 years."

By falling from a ladder—perhaps while engaged, as was customary in those days, in building with his own hands a dwelling for his bride.

The next entry, in the same handwriting, was more touching still.

"November 21, 1730. Born, Adriana, daughter of Adrian and Kathrina Bloss."

Again on the mortuary page:

"December 25, 1730. Died, on this the Nativity of the blessed Saviour, Adriana Bloss, Daughter of Adrian and Kathrina Bloss."

After so brief flowering the little posthumous blossom went to sleep with her father. After this comes another record in a different handwriting:

"January 1, 1770. Entered into rest, Kathrina, widow of Adrian Bloss, aged seventy years.

Seven months a wife, one month a mother, fifty years a childless widow

COPING WITH DEATH OF HEAD OF FAMILY IN EARLY YORK DISTRICT

Contributed by Dr. James L. Reid, 730 Walnut Hill Road, Campobello, SC 29322.

Have you, gentle reader, ever wondered how a mother in the early, relative primitive days of upstate South Carolina managed to raise her family of children after the untimely death of her husband? In this article I am going to give you a glimpse or two of how one particular woman and her family coped with this sad situation. The setting is in York District in the span of years from 1807 to the early 1820's, and the woman is Mrs. Ann Meek, widow of Adam Meek. The probate court file of Adam Meek was transcribed in this Quarterly, issue of August, 2000 (Vol. XIV, No.3, p. 147). From his will I list the family members at the time of Adam's death:

Adam Meek,	father, husband, head of household
Ann Meek,	his wife and mother of the following children
James,	oldest son
Margaret,	oldest daughter, later Mrs. Moore
Jane,	middle daughter, later Mrs. Byers
Agnes,	youngest daughter
William,	youngest son

Today, we can come no closer to conversing with a family bereft of a husband and father than to read their direct testimony, and that of relatives and neighbors, concerning their situation. Such testimony for this family is found in the files of an equity court case, whose specification is the following:

York District, SC} Equity Court (Pinckney District), Case N° 4 (1819). Samuel B. Byers et al vs. James Meek, Exor of A. Meek, Bill for Petition; to Account and Discovery.

[The first testimony is from one of the loose papers in this case. It serves establish the date of death of Adam Meek and the age of each of his children at that time. My insertions into the testimony are enclosed in square brackets.]

19th May 1821 Edward Byers

he knows a part of the cultivation which Adam Meek lived at the time of his death but he does not know what it is worth James Meek has cultivated it since his fathers death—Major Meek died the last of January or first of February 1807 ... all the children were under age at the death of Major Meek [and] Agness and William were underage at the time of the death of their mother. Margaret at the time of her fathers death was above 18 years old, Jane 12, Agness 8 or 9 & William 4 or 5 the economy of the family was as good as common the widows industry and attention and mercy in the family was considerable. She was no charge. he has seen the young ladies at the wheel. he thinks they were industrious and capable of keeping themselves in ordinary clothes from the time they were grown up to the time they were married

Edward Byers

Margaret was married about ten years ago or more, left the family soon after she was married. Jain has been married about 5 years ago she left the place in a short time after. Nancy [same as Agnes] left there about three years since.

[The remainder, and the bulk, of personal testimony is from a little booklet of fifteen pages folded and sewn together at the crease. It is about the same size as the "Blue Book" used today for exams requiring compositions. On the front cover are the words Reference Book, and just under these are the words Evidence Book. The testimony was taken in May of 1822.]

Examination of Mrs. Margaret [Meek] Moore one of the comp<sup>l</sup>

Her mother was furnished in like manner during the time she lived William was furnished with clothing from the time of his fathers death until the death of his mother weaving for the family furnished in like manner as clothing, except some for one or both of her sisters to the amount of $1.50 cts a piece the cotton for which this clothe was made was raised on the place, William clothes was principally spun by her mother & Agness, an old Negro woman named (Sue) was helper from her fathers death untill her mothers in the house to cook etc, Sarah was the wash woman; she generally was a full hand Josiah has not the use of his right shoulder even at this time Jos. not a proper use of it, everything that was made on the plantation as far as she can recollect, was consumed on it, except cotton—that was carried to market. (Josiah was worth 64 do<sup>l</sup> per year) her Brother James undivided part of the property still remained on the plantation—no division was done. James had two negroes that he got by his wife and two he bot [bought], three worked on the farm until he moved, and two afterwards, Those two of the defits own negroes worked on the farm from 1809 to her mothers death, there were two [negro] girls about 12 or 13 years old when they commenced working—her mother would not consent to have an overseer to be in the house with her, James had the management James occasionally worked and plowed in the field when it was necessary to do so—they got horses to ride when it was convenient. when they were not in use on the farm, (visiting etc until they received their legacies at 21—) her Negroes worked on the farm (June & Sam) two years the same length of time her clothed her, June was a woman. Jude Laura Sam about 11 years, She is of the oppinion that clothing was not worth more than the [value? (word omitted)] her [word omitted?] of her negroes Mrs Moore made up the principal part of the negro clothing the first two years, with the assistance of her mother & sisters Her mother superintended the spinning of the clothing—her sisters assisted in taking care making up clothing etc as she [had] done Before she left them, she got a cupboard and ½ dozen chairs the cupboard was appraised at $12 Mrs Moore was to give $17 for the cupboard, and glass $20.00 —the chairs at $12.00.

Agness Meek

proves the sames as sister did (Z) admitted by Miss Agness Meek Mr Moore applied to James Meek for Partition they could not agree she does not know that James refused

John L. Moore

[—] allowed the executor of $100 and interest due from the estate to John L. Moore in right of his wife for rent of lands there has been no Sale of the property, it has been used by the family since the death of Major Meek to his wifes [death]—he is under the impression that the provisions raised on the farm was consumed by the family. Save sold corn. but one year that year no cotton was planted—stock etc was consumed also by the family—all the property such as furniture implements of husbandry etc continued in the family and used by them—used on the farm—the family was well provided for—market crops was not great such as cotton in revenue is worth—since Meeks death untill now—$175 debt was industrious and saving Executor had two horses that worked on the farm from Testators death untill Mrs Meeks death Mr. McElire says that a good work horse is worth $30 per year—in the year 1813 there were 3 bales of cotton made on the farm—from 1807 untill now there might average 15 Bails of cotton per year, he would suppose not more than 15 Bails could have been made since that period per year. [The year 1813 was a drought year.]

Robert Bratton

was present with James Meek when he proposed to get an overseer. the widow objected to it She said she would not allow it—this happened in 1817. If offered to build an house for the overseer she said she would rather her negroes go idle—he has heard her say it often, the reason is that there was not [ ? ] there—he has seen James Meek plowing—he worked hard.

Mr. ju<sup>o</sup> Moore

Samuel B. Byers

he is of the opinion that Mrs. Meek was no charge to the estate, nor to the Executor her services rendered was equivalent to her board. her services consisted in making clothing for the white and Black families—in raising & taking care of the young negroes—and upon this score he thinks she was no charge to the executor

Reference commenced on May 31th 1821 [sic]

Edward Byers

he advised the executor not to keep any accounts against the estate of legatees of the estate that was known[?] by them he believes—he conversed with his sister [i.e., James Meek's sister] she was satisfied for a length of time he talked with the family They appeared satisfied he particularly conversed with the old lady—James & Margaret—she [Jane Meek] was his sister, Mrs Byers. he was present when James Meeks settled with Mrs Byers who was then 21 years of age she heard the conversation between the witnesses and the defendent about no accounts being kept she appeared satisfied he drew up the will he was under the impression that James was to get the neet proceeds with four negros he thinks the widow understood it so also—and this was the condition that was made...the widow did not want any division of the property. she wanted it all to be in common at the time he [James Meek] wanted her to get her part—it was some time after this she demanded her share of James it might have been 8 or 4 years—he appeared willing to give her the 1/6 part of the appraisement bill he was not willing to give any more. he was under the impression that her reason for demanding her part was that it might [ ? ], he does not know whether it was a little or not, he rather thought that it might be she appeared satisfied that there was no sale & enjoyed in common he knows nothing else he told her he thought it could not be spared, she made no objections to it in conversation with her about a sale, he thinks there was two or 3 years during the way there was nothing more made that would support the family—but since that there ought to be more, the services of the old lady was no charge to the estate were to the estate of A. Meek & not to James

Meek alone, & this is why he says she is no charge, the family lived in common and enjoyed things in the same way that would have if A. Meek had been alive, he told Jane when she was about 14 that the interest of her part would keep & she might chose her guardian or let her property remain with James Meek, & the girls were not willing that their part should be taken out of the hands of James Meek—he is not certain whether he had the same conversation with Agness

Shortly after the death of A. Meek he told the widow his oppinion of the will & gave his oppinion as before stated at that time she was seemed distressed about the affairs of the family he did not think it appeared to be a matter of much concern—the testator[Adam Meek] said that he must do something to induce James to take care of the family and his other=Jane was about 11 or 12 at the time he read the will, Nancy 9 or 10—william 5 years old

X Byers

[One presumes that the witness is still Edward Byers.] he told the widow that James Meek the impression left in his mind by Mr. Meek that James was to get all that was made and [support ?] the family & that if she was not satisfied with the will she could break it. She said no his will is my will, he added later he told her that she could get her part and the children could have guardians & at this time she had gotten over her distress she wanted them all to be together she was not willing to have a divide. She objected to have an overseer he thinks the negroes were appraised high—negroes Bad and Isaac about 10 or 11

X Jane Byers

she was present when her mother demanded her part of the property from the Executors=she has heard her mother ask her Brother often for her part of the property, she never heard the family say that James was to get what was made of the net proceeds, she understood the property was to be kept in common together she was about 12 years old at the time of her fathers death=she understood from Mr. Byers that James was to Keep no Books against them=she heard that he was buying books— her mother heard so—she does not think that was the cause of her mother demanding her part She thinks the reason her mother demanded her property was that she wanted what [she ] ought to have she never made any agreement or heard any of the family say that they had that James was to get all the net proceeds that was made she does not think that such an agreement could be made without her Knowing it it might have been made at her fathers death but if it had she thinks she would have heard of it afterwards, no such thing was mentioned at any time that her mother demanded partition of her share she expected to get what she was entitled to by the will and law; she heard that there was property not willed & she intended to have her rights, the reason James would not give his mother her property was that he claimed all the increase, this was the particular reason why division was not made the old lady said she would never settle unless she did get her property; there may have been other objections, this was two or 3 years before her [Jane's] marriage The demand was made as [s]he thinks after the report of James Keeping Books—her mother said that she could not get her part without suing from James ... She thinks her mothers were worth her support from her attention she thinks her services were worth her support (Mrs Byers) she made Negro clothes & her mothers & her sisters Nancys she thinks was a great as hers—over and above what they done for themselves hire was 2 years for herself & 2½ years for Nancy—Nancy was boarded out 2 years, she was boarded out all the time, there is no charge against herself does not know of any charges vs Nancy. The demand was made shortly after James moved to his own house

Miss Agness Meek

She thinks that her services was sufficient for board upon an average

JAMES MEEK AND REVOLUTIONARY WAR STORIES FROM THE UPSTATE

The Olden Times.

JAMES MEEK—CAPT. MAYFIELD—THE HOG TROUGH—TABLE ROCK MOUNTAIN—MARIA CUNNINGHAM—
THE INDIAN—SWEET MILK AND PEACHES

James Meek came with his widowed mother from Pennsylvania and settled on Bullock's Creek in York County, S. C., where he was living at the commencement of the revolutionary war. He and his brother-in-law, Byers, were both zealous whigs and, at an early period of the revolution, joined Sumter's army and served with that distinguished partisan officer during nearly all his skirmishes and fights, and was in that disastrous defeat at Fishing Creek on the 18th of August, 1780 where his army became scattered, many of them fleeing to the mountains. As Meek, Byers, and many of their friends were wending their way homeward, by some fortuitous circumstance, Mr. Meek was captured by Tories, his arms pinned behind him and carried as a prisoner to the house of one Captain Mayfield, a blood thirsty Tory of Chester county, S. C. and no doubt they would have put him to death had he not been rescued. On their way, however to Capt. Mayfield's they had a river to cross adjoining a farm and there was no skiff or other means to enable them to cross the river. They found upon examination a large hog trough near the farm house which they launched into the river, into which they placed Mr. Meek and ferried him over. When they reached Capt. Mayfield's house they called for dinner and placed a sentinel at the door to give alarm should he discover any whigs approaching. Before they had time, however, to dispatch their dinner, the sentinel at the door cried out: "Yonder comes Sumter's men." The Tories all fled leaving Mr. Meek, their prisoner. On arrival of Mr. Meek's whig friends at the house of Capt. Mayfield, Mr. Hood, out with his knife, cut the cords that bound the arms of Mr. Meek and carried him back to Sumter's army. Two of Mr. Hood's sons, Abner and Sylvanus, were for many years citizens of Winston county, Mississippi.

Many years after the close of the revolutionary war, Mr. Meek started to Alabama for the purpose of purchasing land. He reached the North West part of the state [i.e., SC], where he spent the night. The next morning he started on his journey, but had not gone very long before his horse came galloping back without a rider, to the house where he had tarried the previous night.

When the horse was discovered some of the family cried out: "There is Colonel Meek's horse." Diligent search was made and after the lapse of several days his body was found among some driftwood below the ford on Seneca river. His money could not be found and it was supposed that he was murdered for his money and his body thrown into the Seneca River. His remains were interred on the plantation of Colonel Anderson.

Mr. Meek left five sons and one daughter, viz:

1. Abner died in Attala county, Mississippi,
2. Amzi died in Louisville, Mississippi,
3. James B. died in Louisville, Mississippi,
4. Wm B. died in Louisville, Mississippi,
5. Eli died in Arkansas
6. Mrs. Chesterfield McKenney now resides at Holly Springs, Miss.

After Sumpter's defeat at Fishing Creek another squad of his men retreated to the vicinity of Table Mountain, in Greenville county, where a company of Tories commanded by Bill Cunningham were about to surround and capture them at the foot of the mountain, and in order to make their escape, as the dernier resort, they ascended the mountain at the only place where it was passable for a horse. They knew the pass way would be guarded by Cunningham and his adherents and should they attempt to descend from the mountain by the same route that they came up, they would be captured and put to death. Their rations being nearly exhausted, they held a consultation, whether or not, they would kill their only horse, which they called "Sweet Milk and Peaches", and eat him. Maria Cunningham, a sister of Bloody Bill, was in love with one of the rebel young men, and resolved at all hazards to rescue him if possible.

She sallied forth in quest of a young Indian whom she knew and been raised near the mountain and was familiar with all the by-paths upon the mountain and if any person could rescue the rebels from their peculiar situation, it was that Indian. She hired him to undertake the hazardous experiment. He clandestinely made his way to the summit of the mountain and found the environed rebels almost in a straving condition. He cut a long grape vine, piloted them to a point on the mountain where the depth would be the least. He tied one end of the vine to a tree, which enabled the soldiers to make their escape from the mountain by climbing down the grape vine.

For the above mentioned information I am indebted to the Meek family. They said they had heard their ancestor relate frequently the above mentioned incident and they said he gave the names of all the men that were rescued from the mountain by the Indian; but they had forgotten all their names except "Maria Cunningham" and "Sweet Milk and Peaches".

Rev. J. H. Saye of Chester Co., S. C. informed me that he once saw Capt. Mayfield in Franklin county, Georgia long after the close of the Revolutionary war.

DEATH OF A WELL KNOWN COLORED CITIZEN OF GREENVILLE

Source: The Greenville Enterprise, Wednesday January 17, 1872, p.2, col.1

DUDLEY TALLEY, well known to all the old citizens of Greenville City and County, died at his residence in Greenville, on Saturday morning, 6th instant, aged 78.—He was a remarkable negro in many respects. When a slave, belonging to Capt. D. Long, he earned for himself near eight hundred dollars he bought the freedom of his son for $800. The son unfortunately died soon after. He remained a slave till after his master's death. Having accumulated some $150 prior to the sale of Capt. Long's personal property, several years before the war, he requested a gentleman, in whom he had confidence, to buy him at the sale and give him his liberty, and he would repay the sum, which was $650. This was done. True to his word, he, little by little, added to the $150, and extinguished the debt. He also accumulated sufficient to buy a house and lot, and died owning a real estate of considerable value. Dudley was respected for his industry, honesty, and native good sense—He was a moral and religious man, having for many years been an active member of the Church (Baptist). He was attached to his friends, white and black. He had a great regard for Rev. Dr. Williams, of the Theological Seminary of this place, and had expressed the wish he should preach his funeral. This Dr. Williams did, on Sunday 7th last, in the colored Baptist Church, before a large congregation, among them were some of our most respectable white citizens. Gabriel Pool, Pastor of the Church, performed the burial service at the grave.

OBITUARY OF MRS. EVE GARDNER OF EDGEFIELD DISTRICT

Source: The Edgefield Advertiser, February 3, 1858, p. 3, col. 6

DEPARTED this life , Dec. 31st 1857, at the residence of her husband in Edgefield District, South Carolina, in the seventieth year of her age, Mrs. EVE GARDNER, consort of Mr. JOHN GARDNER, and daughter of Mr. Martin Taylor, a Revolutionary War soldier.

She was born in Newberry District, S. C. , April 2nd 1787 ; moved to Edgefield with her brother about 47 years ago ; and was married April 1st, 1829. She was baptised into the fellowship of Little Stevens' Creek Baptist Church, by the Rev. B. Manly, nearly 45 years past. She moved her membership to Gilgal; from thence to Mountain Creek, where she remained a consistant member till her death.

She was afflicted with a chronic sore for more than four years previous to her death ; and finally, was seized with the Dropsy of the Chest which terminated her existence. She was truly a devoted Christian, an affectionate wife, an indulgent mistress and a kind benefactress of the poor. She was indeed a subject of much and severe afflictions ; but endured them with the most Christian fortitude repeatedly saying "Not my will, but the Lord's be done—all the days of my appointed time will I wait till my change comes"

She has left a disconsolate husband and many friends and relations to mourn her loss ; but their loss is her eternal gain. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Spirit, they do rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

COURTSHIP IN TWO PARTS

PART ONE

Courtship in Church

Source: The Chester Register, May 21, 1874, p. 1

A young gentleman happening to sit at a church in a pew adjoining one in which sat a [lovely young lady. He, being seized with a] sudden and violent passion, was desirous of entering into a courtship on the spot; but the place not being suitable for a formal declaration, the case suggested the following plan.

He politely handed his fair neighbor a Bible opened, with a pin stuck at the following text:

Second Epistle of John, verse 6th—And now I beseech of thee, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee but that we which had from the beginning, that we love one another.

She returned it pointing to the second chapter of Ruth, verse 10th:

Then she fell on her face and bowed herself to the ground and said to him:

"Why have I found grace in thine eyes, seeing I am a stranger."

He returned the book, pointing to the thirteenth verse of the third Epistle of John—Having many things to write unto you, I would not write with pen and ink, but I trust shortly to come to you, and speak face to face that our joy may be full.

From the above interview a marriage took place the ensuing week.

PART TWO

Courtship in Georgia

Source: The Carolina Spartan, April 19, 1893, p.4

When a Georgia farmer found out that his son John was sparking a certain farmer's daughter for a year or more without settling any question, he called him out behind the stack and said:

"John, do you love Susan Tucker?"

"I guess I do, dad."

"And does she love you?"

"That's what I dunno, dad, and I'm afraid to ask her."

"Well, you'd better throw out a few hints tonight and find out. It's no use wearing out boot leather unless you are going to marry her."

That night at 10 o'clock John came home a wreck. His face was scratched up and his ear was bleeding, his hat gone and his back covered with mud.

"John, John! what on earth is the matter with you?" exclaimed the old man, laying down his paper.

"Bin over to Tuckers," was the reply. "And I threw out a few hints to Susan."

"What kind of hints?"

"Why, I told her that I'd been hoofing it two miles four nights a week for the last two years to set up with her while she chewed gum and sung through her nose, and now I reckoned it was time for her to brush her teeth and darn her stockings, cure the bile on her chin and tell the folks we're engaged."

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF MR. AND MRS. DANIEL SMITH

Source: The Carolina Spartan, Wednesday, March 8, 1893, p. 2

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Colonel Daniel Smith and his wife celebrated their golden wedding at their home, near Glenn Springs [Spartanburg County], last week. For half a century they have been walking hand in hand in life's pathway. Their neighbors honor and respect them and their children rise up and call them blessed.

They were not very young when they married, both being over twenty-five years of age. The young people of today have very little idea of the conditions prevailing when these two people were married. No costly dressmakers assisted Mrs. Smith in getting up her wardrobe. In fact, it is doubtful whether or not there was a dressmaker in all the Piedmont region then. There were good women who went around from house to house and assisted in sewing. The wedding dinner was a homemade affair, abundant and good, no doubt, but all was of it was prepared in the home kitchen. There were no cooking stoves, no sewing machines, spring mattresses, baby carriages, wedding presents, bridal tours, Saratoga trunks, bonnets and shoes to match every dress, large mirrors, fifty dollar sets of furniture, brusselecarpets and fine carriages about our county homes when this wedding took place.

Fifty years ago John Tyler was president, having succeeded the grandfather of President Harrison who left the White House last Saturday. The Bunker Hill monument was finished that year. The Mormons were then giving great trouble. Texas was a republic with San Houston as President. In 1843 Morse secured the appropriation of $30,000 to push his telegraph system and built the first telegraph line in the world in 1844. In the spring of 1843 there were only two papers in Piedmont Region, the Greenville Mountaineer and, perhaps, a paper at Yorkville. The Spartanburg Journal had started in 1841 or '42, but suspended. THE SPARTAN began its career in December, 1843, and will soon be ready to celebrate its jubilee. These last fifty years have made wonderful changes in our county. Who can tell what the next fifty years will bring forth?

DEATH OF MRS. DANIEL SMITH OF SPARTANBURG COUNTY

Source: The Carolina Spartan, March 29, 1893, p. 3

—Mrs. Daniel Smith died at her home near Philadelphia Church, Wednesday March 22, 1893. She was buried Thursday, Rev. W.T. Derieux conducting the services. She was born near Woodruff eighty years ago, her maiden name being Lanford. A few weeks ago she and her husband celebrated their golden wedding. For more than fifty years she was a faithful member of the church and she illustrated the Christian religion in her daily life. One who had known her for years said: "She was the most unselfish woman I ever knew." Many friends extend warm sympathy to the husband and children who are thus bereaved.

ANNOTATIONS ON THE FAMILY OF MR. AND MRS. DANIEL SMITH

Contributed by Mrs. Betty Jean Dill, 168 Bullington Road, Spartanburg, SC 29306.

From Descendants of Peter Smith (son of Thomas Smith), Page 209:

"As a young man Daniel was commissioned as an officer in one of the companies of the old 45th South Carolina Militia and served as such for seven consecutive years. He was then elected colonel of the regiment.

Daniel was about 45 years old when the War Between the States began. He volunteered his services and was orderly sergeant in Dr. Ben Wofford's company in the winter of 1862-63 at Charleston, and subsequently served as captain of Company A, 1st Battalion of South Carolina Reserves from August 1864 to the end of the war. From December 1864 until the end of the war his son, William Pinckney Smith, age 16, was assigned to his company. Both father and son fought in the battle of Bentonville.

Daniel was clerk of Philadelphia Baptist Church for twenty-five years, a deacon for over fifty, and a Sunday School Superintendent for about fifteen years."

From History of the Wofford Family, Page 255:

From the Carolina Spartan of February 14, 1906, we learn the following:

"It is not generally known in this county that Captain Benjamin Wofford and some friends of his age raised a company for Confederate service in 1862. They were received and did service on the coast of this State several months. On account of their age, they were disbanded in the spring of 1863, and all under 35 years of age were sent to other commands and those over that age were returned home.

Col. Daniel H. Smith was the orderly sergeant, and a complete roll of the company was preserved by him. It was handed to us by Rev. W.P. Smith, his son. He thinks all the company are dead except Zimri Pinson and E.C. Wofford."

This was Company B, 5th Regiment, S.C. Reserves, J.J. Williams, colonel.

This roll was taken from one in the handwriting of Sergeant Daniel H. Smith:

Officers: Captain, Benjamin Wofford; first lieutenant, W.B. Scott; second lieutenant, Jerry Wofford; third lieutenant, Isaac Evans; first sergeant, D.H. Smith; second sergeant, S.S. Roebuck; third sergeant, Alvin Lancaster; fourth sergeant, James Harrison; first corporal, Asa Beason; second corporal, David Pearson; third corporal, G.P. Littlefield; fourth corporal, John Thomas.

[Also listed are 65 men who served as privates in the Company]

On the 24th of January last, at his place of residence in Franklin county, on White Water river, in the state of Indiana, aged 75 years, eleven months and twenty four days, Mr. ROBERT HANNAH, Sen. of the asthma. It would be too tedious to enter into a detail of the meritorious acts of that venerable old man. Let it suffice to say, that in our revolutionary struggles he stood firm and unshaken in the cause of freedom, suffered every privation subject to the calamity of time, was distinguished as a brave and prudent officer at the siege of Savannah, Ninety-Six (now Cambridge) and several other places. At the close of the revolution, he settled in Laurens district until the year 1803, at which time he removed to the state of Indiana (then a territory) where he departed this life and society will long lament the loss of one of the departed heroes of the revolution.

On Friday, the 13th inst., was executed at Pinkneyville, for horse stealing in the presence of near 200 [or 2000?] spectators, the noted offenders William Powers and Patrick Morris; they were attended to the place of execution by the rev. Mr. Alexander; who after addressing the audience, turned to the criminals, and in a moving manner, tried to prepare them for their final exit; but to him they paid no attention; After the rev. gentleman had retired, they were asked by the sheriff if they had any thing to say; they answered NO upon which they were turned off:— They were guarded to the place of execution by a large body of horse and foot; who, if any attempt had been made to rescue the criminals—appeared determined to have the laws of their county, put into execution.

The deceased was born in Pittsylvania County, Virginia, but removed to South Carolina in his boy-hood with his father. In 1829 he located at the place 10 miles above Greenville, which has ever since been known as Traveler's Rest. #### A SAD AFFRAY IN NEWBERRY COUNTY

Source: The Union Democrat, as copied by The Carolina Spartan, December 15, 1880, p. 2, col. 2

A SAD AFFRAY

The case of James Thomas, for the killing of John L. Lyles, came up on an application before Judge Wallace for bail, David Johnson Jr., Esq., representing the prisoner, and Mr. William Munro, representing the state, at the request of the Solicitor. The facts elicited were in substance as follows:

At an estate sale, in Newberry County on the 3rd inst., there occurred an altercation between James Thomas Sr. and J. L. Lyles, in which [paper folded here] ... used by both parties. Upon James Thomas Jr., interposing with an insulting remark, Lyles drew a pistol and fired upon him. When Thomas attempted to return the fire, he found that his pistol was useless, upon which he retreated. The father, James Thomas Sr., upon making an effort to put a stop to Lyles's attack on his son, was himself shot through the body by Lyles and has since died of the wound. Another brother making a similar effort was shot in the head. James Thomas, Jr., upon being pursued by Lyles, and finding his pistol would not fire, threw the weapon at his antagonist and continued his retreat across a fence, Lyles pursuing and firing at him. Thomas at length attempted to return to the place where the fray began, and where his wounded father and brother were. Lyles advanced to intercept him, and opened fire upon him with his revolver, which in the meantime he had reloaded. Thomas now armed with a stout stick continued his course, and met Lyles, who almost at the instant of collision, fired a ball through the arm of Thomas, who striking back with the weapon in his hand, slew his antagonist.

Such in brief were some of the principal circumstances of this most unfortunate affair, in which the grey headed father of a large family has been made to fill a bloody grave, by the hand of one who was twice his son-in-law, and a man in the prime of his life was slain by kindred hands, leaving his bride of a month to deplore her loss of a fond husband.

The sympathies of community have been deeply excited for both bereaved families, who are of the highest respectability.

Mr. Thomas was admitted to bail in the sum of $3000.—Union Democrat

KIBLER—Mrs. Martha C. Kibler, the beloved wife of our dear Brother, Jacob Kibler, passed sweetly away to her rest in heaven, April 12, 1892, in her sixty-ninth year. Her maiden name was Stockman, and she had lived all her life in Newberry County, S. C., near Prosperity. She had been a member of the Methodist Church for forty-eight years. She loved the Church, and the preachers found a true friend in "Aunt Libela". Her husband was devoted to her, and he is desolate indeed. They have no living children, but she was the children's friend: many little one ones have been made happy by her kindness.

Her end was in great peace. She being dead, yet speaketh.

Some Moore Death Notices

Mr. John Moore died at his residence near Gaffney's last Friday, and he was buried Saturday, Rev. W. L. Brown officiating at the funeral. He began life with the century, being born in February, 1800; consequently he was in his 82nd year. For many weeks he had been an invalid, and in his last days he suffered severely. He was the well known court crier in our county for a long period, and for the last fifty years his voice has been familiar to all of our citizens. Thus passed away another of our old men.

Carolina Spartan, issue of Wednesday, July 27, 1881.

Mrs. John Moore died at her residence near Gaffney's last Friday, after a long and painful illness. She lived to an advanced age, having gone considerably beyond the allotted three score and ten years. For a half century or more she had been a faithful member of the church at Providence.

Carolina Spartan, issue of Wednesday, October 19, 1881.

Charles Moore Senior, was killed by the shifting engine Friday afternoon between two and three o'clock, a short distance north of the trestle at the gas house. He had two wounds, one on the back portion of his head and the other towards the front. He died instantly without speaking. Sheriff Nicholls had the body carried home and Coroner James held an inquest at night. The engineer stated that he saw Mr. Moore on the track, apparently in a deep study. He gave the usual warning signals which failed to move him. He then endeavored to stop his engine but was too late. The verdict of the jury was that the killing was accidental. Mr. Moore had just left Dr. Nott's house where he had been on some business and on returning took the railroad track which was a little nearer. He was a native of this county, about sixty three years old and was a house carpenter and contractor. For several weeks lately had been working at Wilson Cantrell's in the country and giving out of lumber he came down home a few days to attend to some business. It is one of those strange cases that cannot be understood. Just before he got to the railroad he met a friend and spoke very cheerfully and hopefully in regard to certain business he was arranging. He came to Spartanburg about 1850 to 1852. He leaves a wife and two daughters at home. His other children are married. He was buried Sunday afternoon in the old cemetery, Rev. W. T. Derieux conducting the service. A large number of friends from the town and country attended the funeral.

Carolina Spartan, issue of Wednesday, December 4, 1889.

MRS. CHARLES MOORE died Friday night last. She was a Miss Chapman from the Broad River section of Fairfield County. In 1853 she was married to Mr. Charles Moore, one of the leading carpenters and contractors in our town. She met life's trials bravely. She did not falter in the conflict. She was patient and earnest and devoted to her home and family. Her neighbors all loved her. She was uniform and settled in her character. She was a consistent member of the Baptist Church. She leaves one married daughter, two sons, both married, and four single daughters, two of them being small. She was buried in the old cemetery Sunday afternoon by the side of her husband whose sad death recently took place. Mr. Derieux, her pastor, conducted the funeral services in the Baptist Church, a large audience being present.

THREE THOUSAND CONFEDERATES AT THE DRY TORTUGAS

I saw a man today who gave his name as Edward Parker, and represented that he was a lieutenant in Capt. J. W. Kelley's Co., K., Colonel Greer's Reg., 14th NC Calvary in the Confederate Army; that he was captured at the Battle of Chickamauga on 12th of June, 1862; was sent to Camp Chase and from there to Dry Tortugas, where he has remained until the first of last June. His tale is a strange one, but I am forced to believe every word of it - and so would you if you could see this man - and it may interest some of you readers. He says there is still about 3,000 men on the island, who have no means to pay their passage and no way to make enough money to do so. Among those still there whose names he remembered are: James Grady, Thomas W. Stinson, Wm. Stinson and George Taylor of Washington Co.; Thomas Carter and Jesse Carter of Russel; John Black and Wm. Black of Scott; James Higginbotham; Thomas W. May, Jesse T. May, and Wm. A. May of Tazewell Co. Parker says that the prisoners were all released at the close of the war, but they have no means of communication and they are still there in a most wretched condition, their only means of support being derived from labor at the levees at fifty cents per month and by begging. He worked over 5 years to save $36.50 with which he paid his fare to New Orleans, from which place he has walked since the 7th of June, and begged his way. He is in a most pitiable condition, being entirely blind in one eye and very near so in the other, caused by exposure and very lame and crippled up from long walks. His is on his way home to Hopkins Co., N. C., having walked up the Mississippi to the mouth of the Ohio and through Kentucky, several hundred miles out of his way owing, he says to his ignorance of the country and the ignorance of those who gave him the directions.

MR. HIRAM MITCHELL DEAD

This old and highly respected citizen of our village died very suddenly on Saturday last. He was born in Connecticut, September, 1806. In 1827, he came to Spartanburg as a peddler and by honesty he established a good trade. In 1812 (sic maybe meant to be 1842), he married the daughter of Col. W. W. Harris, who with four children survive him. His disconsolate family have our sympathy...

STRAWBERRIES

We do not know how to express our appreciation of that bowl of large strawberries which Captain Woodruff presented to us last week. The Captain is always doing something kind and clever.

A RIOT

On Thursday night, a party of intoxicated U. S. Soldiers entered the shop of Mr. Miller on Main Street, and behaved in such a boisterous and disorderly manner, that the proprietor ordered them away. They refused to go. A fight ensued which Miller fired upon them with a pistol, wounded three. We hope the officers in command will introduce a better discipline among his troops.

DEATH OF ANNIEMAE PARIS REGISTER

It is with great sadness that I must report the death of our member Anniemae Paris Register. She died on 25 June 2001 at the age of 96. Anniemae was born to Roney Jefferson Paris and Adelaide Reed Paris on 12 March 1905 in Paulding County, Georgia. I only had the pleasure to meet Anniemae once when her daughter and she were on a research trip to Spartanburg. I learned very quickly that she was a researcher of the first order who maintained the highest integrity both as a researcher and an individual. Forever, I will treasure the memory of this determined, independent, sweet, kind woman who was a lady in the truest sense of the word. She was a subscriber to this quarterly from its inception. She kept up with the times and recently I received a note from her with her e-mail address "Granny Annie". Many people who I meet in their 50s and 60s are intimidated by the computer. Being the inspiration she always was, Anniemae learned it in her 90s!

To the family of this deeply committed, loving woman I extend sympathy on behalf of the Society. I can honestly say that knowing Anniemae Paris Register was a pleasure I will treasure and a gift from God I will always be thankful for.

Spartanburg County Deed Abstracts 1848-1852 Transcribed by Betty Jean Dill and edited by Joseph R. Gainey.
240 pages, indexed, soft cover $30.00

Deeds are a staple of genealogical research in the South. The abstracts in this volume cover the waning years of the antebellum era. Included here, in addition to deeds transferring title to real estate, are slave sales, mortgages, contracts, business agreements, and other miscellaneous records. With the exception of real estate transfers, none of these items are included in the index at the deed office in Spartanburg or at the SC Department of Archives in Columbia, SC. Therefore, the abstracts and full name index found in this volume are especially useful to the researcher. This book has over 800 surnames and includes creeks, rivers, road, churches, corporate names and even family cemeteries.

The Tie That Binds Compiled and edited by Joseph R. Gainey.
135 pages, illustrated, soft cover (Note new price.) $20.00

It contains many pictures and extensive genealogical notes on its early families as well as miscellaneous data on the community. Families included are: Acre, Brannon, Burnett, Cannon, Greene, Harmon, Horton, Kennedy, Kimbrell, Koon, McMillan, Parris, Seay, Shirley, Smith, Stephens, Turner, Williams and Wright. Surnames included are: Aycock, Berry, Bishop, Blalock, Blanton, Brock, Bryant, Cantrell, Carson, Carter, Clark, Cook, Cooley, Crocker, Gosnell, Hall, Hawkins, Hood, Hunnicutt, Hutchins, Johnson, McCarter, Nolan, Padgett, Parham, Petty, Piephoff, Posteat, Sellars, Solesber, Spivey, Tinsley, Tuck, Turner, Wall, Wingo, Woody, Wyatt and others. Also included are 3 family cemeteries as well as the church cemetery and an extinct church cemetery.

Marriages from The Carolina Spartan Newspapers 1866-1869 Compiled and edited by Faye Berry.
27 pages, indexed, soft cover (Note new price.) $ 5.00

This book is a complete listing of the marriages found in The Carolina Spartan, a Spartanburg, South Carolina newspaper. Although they are found in a Spartanburg newspaper, they are not confined to that area. Many pertain to persons living in other counties of South Carolina and a few concern persons living in other states.

Some Spartanburg County Cemeteries Compiled and edited by Joseph R. Gainey.
130 pages, indexed, soft cover (Note new price.) $15.00

Unlike other cemetery books, this one is crafted to meet the genealogist's needs by paying special attention to the plot and row arrangement of the graves. It presents transcripts of 58 Spartanburg County cemeteries in their entirety. Among the churches presented are Philadelphia Baptist, Bethesda Baptist, Concord Methodist, Mount Carmel Methodist, New Hope Methodist, and North Pacolet Presbyterian. In all, 21 churches, including 7 extinct ones are published. Also, 34 family cemeteries, and 3 community and private cemeteries appear here.

One Hundred Years of Friendship

A History of Friendship Baptist Church Minutes 1801-1901, Minutes transcribed by Judy McHam Davis, Cemetery survey by Tommy J. Vaughan, Edited by Joseph R. Gainey, Julie A. Davis and Sally Davis Haisten.
193 pages, indexed, hard bound $30.00

Friendship Baptist Church was founded in 1765 making it the oldest Baptist Church in Spartanburg County. No records prior to 1801 are known to have survived. Located in southern Spartanburg County very near the Union County line, you will find members there from both counties. The book includes the complete transcript of the church minutes, listings of church members and officers, and an inventory of the cemetery. It contains over 400 surnames.

The History of Mount Zion Church and Her People By Dr. J.B.O. Landrum and edited by Joseph R. Gainey.
17 pages, indexed, soft cover (Note new price.) $ 5.00

This is a republication of a 1885 volume on Mount Zion Baptist Church, Spartanburg County, SC. It traces the church from its establishment as a mission of Bethlehem Baptist in 1804, through its organization in 1827, up to the history's publication in 1884. Though small in size, it contains a wealth of information, both genealogical and historical on Mount Zion and its early members.
